

Nothing sorts who serves alongside whom

0 is what proportional mixing would give; ± 1 would be perfect sorting. Everything lands inside ± 0.05 , so none of it is sorting. Gender is the largest at +0.046, and even that is more plausibly cohort than affinity: women arrive in numbers only after 2011, so they share cabinets by arriving together. Each coefficient uses only the subgraph where the attribute is coded.